Aristotle's model of communication is perhaps the oldest communication model most people are familiar with. Dating back to 300 BC, the model examines how people present messages in a persuasive, impactful ...

Monophasic nanofibres produced from Mn<sub>3</sub>O<sub>4</sub> and xerogels consisting of a mix of Mn<sub>3</sub>O<sub>4</sub> and Mn<sub>2</sub>O<sub>3</sub> (with residual carbon as an impurity) have exhibited excellent catalytic activities [55]. We believe that a-MnO<sub>2</sub> nanorods are a promising and viable alternative to Pt/C given that the doped (Ag, Co, Ru) a-MnO<sub>2</sub> nanorods are reported to have an average ...

Lasswell's model of communication, also known as the "action model," was proposed by Harold D. Lasswell in 1948. This communication model provides a comprehensive framework to analyze and understand the communication process by addressing five fundamental questions: Who is the source of the message or the communicator?

Lithium-ion batteries, due to their high energy and power density characteristics, are suitable for applications such as portable electronic devices, renewable energy systems, and electric vehicles.

The battery models that are often utilized consist of electrochemical models and equivalent circuit models. The concept can be articulated as follows: (4)  $V_t = V_{oc} - V_{dr} - V_{ep}$  where terminal voltage (  $V_t$  ), open-circuit voltage (  $V_{oc}$  ), potential difference (  $V_{dr}$  ), and electric potential (  $V_{ep}$  ).

MODELS OF COMMUNICATION NETWORK The three main types of communication models in distributed systems are: FIFO (first-in, first-out): each channel acts as a FIFO message queue. Non-FIFO (N-FIFO): a channel acts like a set in which a sender process adds messages and receiver removes messages in random order. Causal Ordering (CO): It follows Lamport's law. ...

Aluminium-ion batteries are a class of rechargeable battery in which aluminium ions serve as charge carriers. Aluminium can exchange three electrons per ion. This means that insertion of one  $Al^{3+}$  is equivalent to three  $Li^{+}$  ions. Thus, since the ionic radii of  $Al^{3+}$  (0.54 Å) and  $Li^{+}$  (0.76 Å) are similar, significantly higher numbers of electrons and  $Al^{3+}$  ions can be accepted by ...

Dual-ion battery (DIB) (Placke et al., 2018) and dual-carbon battery (DCB) (Jiang et al., 2019b) are promising for stationary energy storage instead of traction batteries for EVs. Dual-graphite/carbon battery is a subcategory of DIB. A new aluminum-graphite DIB was reported to show high reversibility and high energy density (Zhang et al., 2016).
