Keeping the price down without having disappointing performance or build is at the heart of finding the best value in a cordless circular saw. Both Ryobi and Skil excel in this category, however I find the Skil PWRCORE 20 XP 7 1/4-inch circular saw consistently delivers slightly better value and performance overall.

However, the Stihl battery saw produces an incredible torque band. It will chew through wood that would normally be way out of bounds for a comparable battery saw. Additionally, it shines when cutting wood that is sub 12" in diameter. ... While I appreciate Stihl standing behind the brick-and-mortar dealers, it sometimes makes price comparing ...
